Re: Missed deadline in Random Ayat (42520341635)

Aryo Sanjaya <aryo@aryosanjaya.net>   Fri, Feb 22, 2013 at 11:43 PM
To: Facebook Platform Policy Team <platform-policy+6u2xeix.aea3b7vf57j7i@support.facebook.com>

Yes John, absolutely that is what I mean.

Actually the purpose of this application is to enable user to post Qoran quote on user behalf, automatically at specified hour they choosen. Even they are offline.
They need it to post random Qoran quote, so his/her friends can read it daily.

So it will never comply with "cannot post automatically on user behalf" and "cannot prefilled". If there is no other options to comply with those two rules, what I can say is this feature cannot be exists anymore.

If your answer is "yes, there is no other options", I will disable the automatic post feature.

Thanks for your response.

On Fri, Feb 22, 2013 at 6:27 PM, Facebook Platform Policy Team <platform-policy+6u2xeix.aea3b7vf57j7i@support.facebook.com> wrote:

> Hi Aryo,
>
> There are indeed a lot of Apps that are compliant with FPP IV.2 and IV.3.
>
> Per these policies, Apps on Facebook should not:
> - post automatically on behalf of the user (this means that users should be aware that a story is going to be posted, a 'share' or 'post' button could be a good way to do that for instance).
> - the story should not be pre-filled. Captions should be user-generated.
>
> Thanks,
>
> John
> Platform Operations
> Facebook
>
> -----Original Message to Facebook-----
> From: Aryo Sanjaya (aryo@aryosanjaya.net)
> To: The Facebook Team
> Subject: Re: Missed deadline in Random Ayat (42520341635)
>
> Hi John,
>
> Thank you for your kind notice. Honestly I am confused with the new Facebook policy.
>
> The purpose of this application is to post random quote taken from Qoran, once a day, at the hour choosed by user himself.
>
> My question:
>
> 1. How can our user will automate post the quote if they have to type it manually?
> 2. How can our member report it as spam, while they do it in purpose? They can, anytime, turn off the automate post, because the automate is turned off by default and they turn it on by himself.

So I don't think the user will ever report it as spam.

Is there any application like this out there that is comply with new Facebook's rules?

Thank you.

Aryo Sanjaya,
Facebook Apps Developer

On Thu, Feb 21, 2013 at 11:45 PM, Facebook Platform Policy Team < platform-policy+6u2xeix.aea3b7vf57uh2@support.facebook.com> wrote:

> Hi,
>
> Unfortunately, since the deadline for addressing issues in your app has > now passed, we've placed a temporary restriction on Feed Stories for Random > Ayat (42520341635) to protect the user experience. Please take care of > these issues before Monday, February 25th, 5pm GMT to avoid further > restrictions. We're happy to lift the restriction as soon as we hear back > from you that all the issues have been resolved.
>
> Thanks,
>
> John
> Platform Operations
> Facebook
>
>

--
Aryo Sanjaya
http://hi.im/aryo
-----End Original Message to Facebook-----

--
Aryo Sanjaya
http://hi.im/aryo